GREEN TURTLES EXPENSIVE.

Where They Are Caught and How They Are Brought North.

"The flesh of the green turtle often brings $50 a pound," said an oyster dealer. "This rich meat comes to us from the coral reefs of the West Indies."

"The turtles are caught in nets among the rocks. They are very carefully brought north. They are deck passengers at first, but as the weather grows cold with the ship's progress they are penned in warm rooms below—regular staterooms."

"It's a different treatment that they get, though, at the natives' hands. If a native is bringing turtles north he nails them fast to the deck by their flippers. Strange creatures that they are, they appear to suffer little under such cruel treatment."

"The calipee and calipash are respectively the flesh from the breast and the back of the green turtle, tidbits which, I have heard epicures say, are unequaled in the earth beneath, the heavens above or the waters under the earth. This meat is superlatively rich, delicate and tender."

"Live green turtle fetches wholesale from a dime to a quarter a pound. What makes the meat so expensive in the end is that out of a 140 pound fish you'll only get two pounds of calipee and one of calipash."

"Several times when there has been a tight turtle market the chefs of millionaires and of certain extravagant hotels have offered me $1 a pound for live turtles. At that rate your calipee and calipash would come to quite $50 a pound."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

SCHOOLING FREELY.

Good Schools of Medium Fish Southeast of Boon Island.

Report Brought to Boston by Sloop Maxwell of This Port.

A special to the Times this forenoon from John Nagle & Co. states that the sloop Maxwell of this port, which arrived at T wharf, Boston, today, reports plenty of medium mackerel schooling 12 miles southeast of Boon Island.

Quite a large fleet of seiners are at this port this morning. They have scoured the grounds everywhere and have no fish.

Sch. Corsair got a small haul off Race Point Saturday afternoon.

The seiners report a few schools on Middle Bank yesterday, but they could do nothing with them.

Eight hundred barrels of fresh mackerel were received at Boston yesterday from Yarmouth, N. S., by steamer.

CRASHED IN FOG.

Ocean Liner Sank Swordfishing
Sch. John A. Allen.

Crew Saved But Craft Sank Five Minutes After the Blow.

The danger of the present long and densely thick fog spell to vessels fishing on Georges near the track of ocean steamers was exemplified yesterday, when one of these iron monsters arrived at New York and reported running down and sinking a Maine fishing craft on that bank. Fortunately the crew were saved.

The steamer was the liner Vaderland of the Red Star line, bound from Antwerp for New York, and the craft was the swordfishing sch. John A. Allen of South Harpswell.

The accident occurred on Georges at 7.30 o'clock Sunday morning, the big steamer rushing out of the fog upon the little fisherman and not having time to change her course, struck her a crushing blow and sent her to bottom within five minutes after the impact. The crew of seven took to the dory and were picked up by the steamer and landed at New York.

The craft was commanded by Capt. Toothaker and her crew comprised Albert H. Douglass, Thomas H. Boyd, E. M. Hamilton, W. H. Doughty, S. Pinkham and W. W. Latham.

The Allen was engaged in swordfishing and landed her last fare at Boston last week, sailing for there on her last voyage last Thursday.

Sch. John A. Allen was 43.08 tons gross and 25 tons net, built at Harpswell, Me., in 1902, and was owned by Capt. John Toothaker.

Caught a Sturgeon.

The fishermen at Joppa, Newburyport, landed a big sturgeon down the river on Sunday and brought him to Newburyport. He weighs over 300 pounds and is eight feet long. It is some years since a sturgeon has been caught in the river at Newburyport.
